Calling the Meeting to Order and Conducting Elections
Who Chairs the Meeting

- Current chair
- Former chair that was defeated or did not run for office
- Vice-chair or 2nd vice chair
- County clerk
- Corporation counsel
- Someone trusted
- Should not be someone who is seeking the office
Nominations

- Declare the floor open for nominations
- Need not be recognized by the chair
- Anyone can nominate
- Can nominate yourself
- No second required but allowed to show support
- Seconding speeches are allowed
- Chair should restate the nominee placing their name before the body
- Nomination speeches are allowed
- Technically nominations are not necessary – each member is free to vote for anyone eligible
Nominations (cont.)

- Motion to close
  - No motion necessary but may accept a motion to close
  - Not in order until reasonable time has been given
  - Is out of order if someone is seeking the floor
  - Requires two-thirds vote
  - No requirement to ask “are there any other nominations” three times
  - Chair can declare nominations are closed
NOTE: Board Rules may provide a process for nominations and those seeking position.

QUESTION: Do the prohibitions surrounding “walking quorum” apply to politicking for chair or vice chair?
May allow candidates to say a few words (set a time limit beforehand)

- Can candidates distribute literature?
- May candidates make a presentation?

If only one candidate, the chair may accept a motion to close nominations and cast a unanimous ballot
Only time a secret ballot may be used

(1) Unless otherwise specifically provided by statute, no secret ballot may be utilized to determine any election or other decision of a governmental body except the election of the officers of such body in any meeting.
Elections (cont.)

- Appoint ballot clerks
  - Need not be a member of the body – can be County Clerk
  - Distribute, collect and count ballots
  - Report the vote
  - Chosen for their accuracy and dependability
  - Should have confidence of membership
  - Should not have a direct personal involvement in the outcome of the vote
Elections

- Continue to vote until a majority is reached
- Candidates may withdraw
- Never remove lowest vote getter (more on this in a moment)
- When unable to reach a majority: take a recess, allow the candidates to speak, allow members to speak
- Winner assumes the chair for the balance of the meeting

- Impropriety of limiting voting to the two leading candidates
  - Leading candidates may represent two different factions – division may be deepened
  - May unite members w/compromise candidate
- Improper to remove nominee w/lowest votes
  - Repeat balloting until you have a winner
  - Nominee w/lowest number of votes could be a “compromise candidate” who all can agree on Opportunities to Create a Foundation for Success
Imagine you are a first-term supervisor and you have just taken your oath of office. On the agenda is an action item requesting a transfer of $250,000 from contingency to pay for an out-of-county placement of a person under the care of your Human Services Department. What do you do?

The Organizational Meeting presents both an opportunity and a challenge to educate the new Board.

- Opportunity – the education can begin before the Board “gets down to business.”
- Challenge – there is NO way to fully educate new supervisors in the time allotted.

This means counties should be thoughtful about the approach to the Organizational Meeting and whether the education can and should be continued at a later date.
Establishing Expectations BEFORE the Organizational Meeting

- Does your county have a job description for county board supervisor?
- Does your county have a strategic plan?
- Does your county have an organizational chart showing departments and functions?
- Does your county have County Board Rules?

- The million dollar question – if you answered yes to any of the above questions, do you distribute these materials when individuals take out nomination papers? When they are elected? Before the Organizational Meeting?
